SOCIETY WOMEN Some Spend Hundreds of Dollars

Year on Their Hair.

according to a metropolitan newspaper overy society woman spends a great deal of money to keep her hair beautiful and resplendent.

These women employ highly paid hair dressers and specialists, and so long as they have the money to gratify their desire for beautiful hair, none should complain.

But what about the thousands upon thousands of women just as intelligent, just as refined, and just as lovable as any society women, who have not the means for expert hair dressers and specialists?

Are they not entitled to beautiful, lustrous and luxuriant hair?

Most assuredly they are, and thousands of them give thanks daily to the great scientist who put within their reach, at a small price, the marvelous and quick acting hair tonic known all over America as Parisian Sage.

A large bottle of Parisian Sage costs but 50 cents. It will make any wo-man's hair grow thicker, more beau-tiful and more lustrous in a few weeks.

The Governor Wilson named his antimonopoly bills, passed the House without amendment, just as they did the Senate last week, and to-morrow Mr. Wilson will sign them.

The Governor was delighted that the chief proposal of the party program was carried out so effectively. Earlier in the day he listened to the objections of State labor leaders who thought the bills might restrict the activities of labor unions, but the delegation went away quite convinced by Mr. Wilson that they need have no fear of such an application by the New Jersey courts.

Works in Seclusion.

The President-elect worked on correspondence for a part of the day in seclusion in an office on an upper floor of the State House, escaping the turmoil which nearly 1,500 suffragettes brought when they invaded the State to the Senate, the body in which they originated, for formal transmission to the Governor.

Secretary Henery F. Hilfers, of the New Jersey Federation of Labor, showed the Governor a letter he had received from President Gompers, of the Federation of Labor, advising an emphatic protest against the bills unless the following amendment was incorporated in the act in question:

"Nothing in this act shall be so construed or held as to apply to the associations or organizations of working people, instituted to regulate wages, hours of labor."

The Governor pointed out that the act restricts "persons dealing in commodities." He said the courts of New Jersey had consistently held that labor was not a commodity, so there could be no application to labor questions

The Governor told the labor leaders that the amendment suggested by Mr. Gompers would invalidate all the seven antitrust acts and would be held as class legislation.

Firemen Wanted Arbitration.

The firemen had stood to a man for arbitration under the Erdman act ever since the deadlock began; the railroads had stood firm for arbitration before a commission of six or seven men.

Three men, acting under the law, will decide the firemen's claims. Their decision will be binding.

The firemen selected their representative on the board of arbitration as soon as the decision of the railroads was announced. The man they selected is Albert Phillips, of Sacramento, Cal., vice-president of their organization. The railroads selected as their man W. W. Atterbury, vice-president and general manager of the Pennsylvania lines East.

Within a day or two these two men will select the third or neutral member. Within thirty days thereafter the arbitrators must render their findings. Where they will meet was not an-

The agreement to arbitrate was romptly signed by both sides.

The mediators, in a formal statement, later announced that the firemen's committee had passed a resolution recommending that the labor organizations and the railroads "unite in requesting such amendments to the expression of the expression of the resolution of the second of the questing such amendments to the existing law as may be found desirable."

The railroads will request that the commission of three men, now provided for under the law, be enlarged

The question to come before the arbitrators is principally one of wages. The firemen ask for increases depending upon the size of the locomotive. giving them a wage varying from $2.55 to $4 a hundred miles. They ask also for two firemen on the heavier locomotives.

The railroads already expressed a willingness to raise wages, but not to the maximum demanded. To grant this, they assert, would cost $12,000,000

CHARGES FALL FLAT

Justice Dismisses Case Against Colonel
William S. Edwards.
Charleston, W. Va., February 18.—
Charges against Colonel William Seymour Edwards of offering bribes to further his candidacy for United States Senator, fell flat to-day. Delegate Rhodes, who made the charges, failed to appear at a preliminary hearing. Justice of the Peace Marion Gilchrist dismissed the case after Delegate J. M. Smith, named by Rhodes as the man Edwards tried to bribe, testified that he never had discussed the senatorial situation with Colonel Edwards.
The special grand jury investigating tinued its inquiry to-day, but failed to find any more indictments. With but three more days of the regular session of the Legislature there is little hope to-night of choosing a successor to United States Senator Clarence W. Watson.
